

Acomo sales trends improve in Q3 2026 as four out of five segments report growth

Rotterdam (NL), 22 October 2026

Today, ACOMO N.V. (Acomo), the Euronext Amsterdam-listed diversified, plant-based food ingredients Group, reports Q3 2026 sales of €352.5 million. The business performance is in line with expectations, with a sales decline of -1% (-2% at constant currency, as foreign exchange headwinds eased). Four of the five segments reported sales growth, with organic growth at Group level complemented by contributions from recent acquisitions. As anticipated, the Organic Ingredients segment showed a decline in sales in Q3 which was related to the Juice business.

"Our third quarter performance was in line with our expectations. We are pleased with the progress across the majority of our businesses. Our recent acquisitions are performing well and are contributing not only through additional scale, but also through commercial opportunities across the Group. We are successfully expanding our portfolio and expertise into new markets, while benefiting from the strength of the acquired businesses in these markets. Edible Seeds continued its recovery during the third quarter and returned to growth. This is an encouraging development following the operational disruptions and production interruption that started last year and continued partly in Q1. This segment is progressively returning to more normal performance levels. The main area where we continue to experience temporary headwinds is our Tradin Organic US Juice business where third-party production disruptions led to lost sales. To address this, we started the process to insource production, and expect the new facility to become operational during the first quarter of 2027. While we navigate the uncertainties around geopolitical developments and the El Niño effect in the near term, we are confident in our ability to create long-term value through the resilience of our diversified portfolio, the positive long-term market trends, and the contribution from targeted acquisitions.", said Acomo CEO Allard Goldschmeding.

- Spices and Nuts achieved a +5% sales increase in Q3. The segment reported modest organic growth supported by the contribution from the Italian acquisition Manuzzi in November 2025.
- Edible Seeds increased by +2% in Q3. The US business delivered a solid sales performance, supported by the recovery of SunButter production and the strength of our vertically integrated model.
- Organic Ingredients reported lower sales in Q3 (-13%) impacted by the decline in the US juice business related to the third-party production issues. The Cocoa business continued to perform well in a price environment that remains dynamic.
- Tea delivered solid Q3 sales growth of +5%. The business continued to navigate ongoing geopolitical uncertainty and challenging market circumstances, while it is progressing with the transition to its new centralized commercial model.
- Food Solutions delivered strong Q3 sales growth of +70%, driven both by organic growth and the recent acquisition of Cublend, which is further strengthening Acomo's position as a value-added food ingredients and solutions provider.

Outlook 2026

Despite a turbulent macro environment, Acomo remains confident in its mid-term ambitions set out at the 2025 Capital Markets Day. Its relationship-driven sourcing model enables the Group to respond with agility to shifts in supply and demand, with value added from origin to shelf. Ongoing operational initiatives and targeted acquisitions continue to strengthen these foundations.
